kery and all tricksters and had as little to do with them as circumstances would permit.

If there was a man in the state noted for politeness on all occasions, it was Captain Wallace. Gentle as a home-loving girl, tender and considerate and deeply sympathetic his manner was no more suave than when aroused by resentment of wrong to others or himself. A gentleman of the old school in all particulars especially in saying nothing injurious concerning his acquaintances and with convictions to which he adhered tenaciously but never offensively, he was most highly esteemed by all.

James Craig Wallace was born on the old family farm near Forrest Green March 15, 1840, John Snyder Wallace and Idress Elizabeth Wallace his parents and brothers, John S. and Bruce Wallace and sisters, Mrs. Susan Head, Mrs. Maggie Fristoe and Mrs. Maria Davis being one among the prominent families of north Missouri.

Captain Wallace entered the confederate service in 1861 and was an officer from soon after enlisting until the close of the war in the 9th. Missouri Infantry. He was admitted to the bar in 1868 and in the 70s came to this city and opened an office, forming a partnership with I. H. Kinley soon after and when Mr. Kinley went to Kansas City, Capt. Wallace and Ed. T. Miller of St. Louis became partners until Mr. Miller accepted a position as attorney for a railroad with his headquarters in St. Louis.

James C. Wallace and Miss Laura Watts of Howard county were united in marriage in December 1877 and three children came to the union, Mrs. Idress Flower of St. Louis, Miss Agnes and Miss Margaret, the latter of whom died a few years ago.

Funeral services were conducted at the residence of the family yesterday afternoon, Rev. Smith of Macon Mo. who conducted the ceremony of marriage for Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Flower officiating, after which the gallant old soldier, tenderest of husbands and loving father was laid to rest in the city cemetery.

The pall bearers, selected from his numerous friends, comrades and legal associates were E. A. Carter, Jas. Taylor, Ashburn Taylor, Caskie Miller, W. D. Vaughn, and J. S. Littrell. The gathering of his relatives and acquaintances in such numbers from near and far, the floral offerings and the depression felt by all business concerns in the city were testimonials of the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

The Anti-Saloon League has allowed a few political leaders to drag it nearly to the bottom of respectability. It is now regarded by a number of its most respectable members as a rotten political machine, dominated by grafters and a disadvantage to morals, good government and religion. Shupp and Jones and likewise Rev. Elmer Clark of St. Louis who allowed himself to be made a catspaw of, are men whose connection with any cause hereafter, will render it an object of suspicion.

INVITATION

A. V. SIMMON, the Keytesville Merchant Tailor, cordially invites the people of this vicinity to come earlier to select their good clothes because I cut and make up every garment myself according to the fancies of the customer. And second my prices are lower than some of the ready-to-wear houses. Because I charge no profit to everyone only for my labor and then add the price of the goods. That is why I am always found to be very busy

Elmer E. Lewis makes a splendid chairman for a convention but as a prognosticator of coming political events, well, he knows what he would have come to pass if he could get the right kind of a pass at some heads bobbing up in the light of the stand-patters, but there's the rub. Yes, Wilson looks better to him than some he might mention, if he had to.

Forethought

People are learning that a little forethought often saves them a big expense. Here is an instance: E. W. Archer, Caldwell, Ohio, writes: "I do not believe that our family has been without Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy since we commenced keeping house years ago. When we go on an extended visit we take it with us." Obtainable everywhere.

Last night at midnight the opportunity to file as a candidate for any office in the state and county vanished. As we do not "stay up late" we do not know of more victims than we name in our announcement column, but if any such have thrown their sombreros in the circle of pie seekers, we will tell about it next week.
